

We have exciting news to share: the BSTS now has its own Facebook Page!

One of our goals this year is to reach and engage with a wider audience who, we hope may in time, become new members. We also want to create an opportunity for 'followers' of that page to be able to engage with each other. So, if you are on Facebook please search for 'The British Society for the Turin Shroud', click on the 'Follow' button and please invite your Facebook Friends to do the same. We hope you will share our posts with your friends and also post them into any relevant Facebook Groups that you have joined. Working together like this will help build the profile of the BSTS and allow us to reach more people with our message.

If you would like to make a contribution to the BSTS Facebook posts we welcome your input. We understand that not everyone is on Facebook but we want to encourage everyone to be a part of building our audience and grow our community. Lynne Kowalski is our administrator and would be happy to hear from you.

We want to keep the posts varied so, for example, if you have some interesting articles related to the Shroud that you would like to share, a personal story of how the Shroud of Turin touched your life, books, poems, films or research papers, all this and more Lynne, would be happy to hear from you. You can contact her on outreach@bstsnewsletter.com

We look forward to building The British Society for the Turin Shroud together and engaging with those prepared to look beyond the now questionable C14 verdict on the Shroud which, thankfully, the current Head of the Oxford Radiocarbon lab, Prof. Christopher Ramsey, has now recognised.
