Abstract:

The Shroud of Turin Website (www.shroud.com) first went online on January 21, 1996. What started simply as an effort to share some of the many photographs I made in 1978, along with the many other materials I collected and archived during the STURP project and afterwards, has grown to become the oldest, largest, and single most extensive Shroud resource on the internet.

With that growth came the need to manage and organize a huge amount of archived information and more importantly, make it easily accessible to visitors from around the world. The purpose of this presentation is to overview the current contents and structure of the website and provide visitors with a visual guide so they can quickly and easily find exactly what they are looking for and get the most out of their visit.
