B.S.T.S. Talk by
ROSS SPENCER
Sculptress from the Isle of Wight

MAKING A FULL SIZE 3-D RECONSTRUCTION OF THE MAN OF THE SHROUD - THE TASK, AND ITS PROBLEMS

Ross Spencer, who has worked for several years on a bust of the head of the man of the Shroud, now plans to reconstruct the entire body as a 3-D sculpture, a task which she recognizes as fraught with many problems, not least the differing interpretations of the various body features that seem to be visible on the Shroud. In her illustrated talk she will explain the uniquely scientific way she intends to approach the creation of the sculpture. She hopes as many members as possible will attend and contribute their own ideas and advice. The meeting promises to be one of unusual interest.

Please note the new venue, which should provide quieter and more comfortable surroundings than the Bayswater hall used for most recent meetings. The nearest rail and underground station is Charing Cross. Proceed through Admiralty Arch and a short way up the Mall in the direction of Buckingham Palace. Carlton House Terrace is up the steps leading off to the right. For members wishing to meet up beforehand, the Committee Room will be open from 6.30 pm.
